

INSIDE THE SOVEREIGN HIVE

HELD - HOLD

JOURNEY WITH YOUR SOUL'S MISSION
A 13 WEEK COURSE

OCTOBER - FEBRUARY 2023-2024
NOURISH AND UNFURL
YOUR UNIQUE WAY OF HOLDING

INTRODUCTION

In this pack Garden of Alchemy present a new concept,
A new attitude to training.

Instead of passively receiving information from someone else, on 'the way I did it,' and 'the way to do it,' what if you had space to journey with your own truth?

What if you could 'unlearn' obstacles to hold more love? What if you could create holistic offers as freely as a child at play?

This is a chance to stop hiding, fearing, and following others
A journey to love and integrate your shadows
An absolute yes to your life

It's time for humanity to create from the heart.
It's time to believe in the medicine we are and set ourselves free to serve.

THE JOURNEY

You might notice that the structure and titles of 'Held' and 'Hold' mirror each other.

The Structure

There are 2 dual courses that create the Sovereign Hive. Each course 'Held' and 'Hold' offers a set of introduction materials before the group calls start.

The Titles

In each course we journey through a process of life, death, and rebirth. In the first week we assess the container that will hold us through it all.

In weeks 2-3 we journey into the shadow states to journey with our pain stories, fears, and limitations.

Once we have held these parts of ourselves, we rebirth in weeks 4-6, preparing us to hold the realities of the growth cycle. We can then create and heal from a rooted, sustainable place.

THE SHAPE OF THIS COURSE

This course is an online group journey for a group to build deep bonds and replenish over Winter.

RESTORE BY BEING HELD

As we get called into a life of service, it is more important than ever to look at how we hold ourselves in our daily lives. To be held is a dive into the descent of winter, into the Earth of Pachamama. With the energies of darkness, we lean into holding. How is it to be there in that holding? For we cannot hold and serve others until we learn to be held.

I've seen a lot of practitioners who hold a lot but do not allow themselves equal measure of being held. My alarm bells go off when there is not this balance of in and out/Yin and Yang. Because I know that I do not want to be held by someone who is not resourced connected and full.

I believe we shouldn't be asking our therapists, holistic practitioners, or anyone in the role of caring and service what is your qualifications. We should be asking 'what is your lifestyle like? How much support do you have?'

If we were transparent with this, we would see that true success is not how many clients you have and how much money you earn, it is in your capacity to serve, give, create, and love from a whole, integrated place.

Real service is a devotional act. When we serve from our practice of connection, trust, deep listening and love we are the divine in action. The energy available to us exists in not how much we do, but how much we align to our calling. Timing is everything, so often less is more.

WHO IS THIS COURSE FOR?

This is a guided journey for space-holders who want to release fear and create with ease. This is a course to intimately know and love your own story before constructing new offers from a place of eminent self-worth.

While we do explore tools and practices in this course, you will not be given a 'how to hold space guide' that you can drag and drop into your practice.

We recommend this course to practitioners who are already working in a holistic wellness business, or brave beginners who are ready to create something unique.

The scope of our work meets many different modalities, welcoming: coaches, bodyworkers, herbalists, nutritionists, yoga teachers, ceremonialists, celebrants, carers, mothers, doctors, etc. Space holders appear in many forms. However you intend to apply this course in your life, you will hunger for the following:

- A relationship with self as a navigation system; creating offers from integrity
- A profound and professional relationship with ceremony as an artform
- A path of service with boundaries that serve you; I fill my cup first
- A desire to connect other human beings to their unique sovereign power to walk into a new story of humanity

ABOUT YOUR GUIDE

Annabelle has been working creatively her whole life as a chef, photographer, and workshop facilitator before she was called to serve Earth Medicines and create the Garden of Alchemy.

Here, the intention is in the name. The 'Garden of Alchemy' takes organic, living pieces and plays with form to create something of a higher resonance. Though Annabelle has many certificates and consistently invests in training, you will find it hard to define any of her offerings by one, two, or three modalities. They are an artistic fusion of many disciplines, crafted by the love channelled in that moment.

Each sitting is unique, and knowledge is weaved by the higher power of intuition. This level of creativity is bold: “I never know how it’s going to go,” – Annabelle, but the only way to create magic is to lead from the heart and employ the head as a faithful servant.

This approach calls for a discipline of a different kind: commitment to self. This is embedded into Annabelle's daily practices, and expresses through clear boundaries when holding space.

After teaching ‘The Artist’s Way’, training in Tantra, and doing The Work of Byron Katie for many years, Annabelle knows that our innate power as creators grows from the inside-out. The titles we give ourselves may offer comfort but they ultimately spell limitation. For we are ‘the medicine’ the world needs, and our art is our truth.

What will you dare to create?
